In the meantime, here's a quick appetizer of what will be discussed:

Strategic development

Over the past year, we have focused on positioning GRASS. A collaborative white paper has been accepted and will be published in six journals beginning 1st of August 2025!

Member survey

A survey was launched to map the interests and areas of expertise within the GRASS network. Your input is helping us better understand our collective strengths! Findings will be discussed.

Website launch: symptomscience.org

We have created a dedicated GRASS website to support communication, resource sharing, and visibility. It will serve as a central point for updates, materials, and networking.

Task Forces

Based on the working groups defined during the Lausanne meeting, we are now moving forward with the formation of dedicated Task Forces to advance specific areas.

Looking forward to seeing you in Seattle!
